In the Name of Allah, the Most Merciful and the Most Compassionate

In this issue of Al-Ahliyya Amman University magazine, I would like to convey my affections to everybody belongs to, and to express my feelings of pride for belonging to such a distinguished university. This beloved university is featured with an environment that is full of affections, giving and dedication. We cherish being AAU soldiers working to ensure academic and administrative excellence and reputation.

AAU becomes a distinguished educational edifice, gaining trust, respect and appreciation of the local, regional and international communities. This achievement is attributed to the outstanding standards of its graduates who occupied positions in more than one hundred countries around the world, as leaders, scholars, experts and academic professors ..etc.

As usual, AAU is keen on being the leader in keeping up with the royal directions, calling for reconsidering the academic plans and programs enforced in universities to meet the needs of the labor market, as well as going along with scientific and technological advancement. AAU aims to continuously improve the performance standards of its graduates, and to enhance their competitive opportunities. To comply with these guidelines, AAU added, lately, to its academic programs a set of distinguished programs at both the Bachelor's and Master's levels, such as the B.Sc. programs of "Optometry", and "E-Business and Information Systems Management". In the Master's level, three new and unique programs were already licensed and will soon start accepting students. These are: "Intelligent Transportation Systems", in cooperation with three top European Universities; "Government Management", in cooperation with the Ministry of the Public Sector Development; and "Accounting and Finance".

AAU gives priority to cooperation and interaction with the local community. In this context, a distinguished social and human activities were conducted by the university students, academics and administrative staff to serve the citizens of the local community in this beloved country. The AAU's exerted efforts became a source of pride and appreciation.

AAU paid special attention to non-Jordanian students. The Arab and foreign students represent more than 50 % of the total number of registered students. We provide our guests with the security and the warmth hospitality as embodied by King Abdullah Bin Al-Hussein II and the Jordanian people.

The efforts of the university staff have culminated by obtaining "The Quality Assurance Certificate" which was recently granted by The Higher Education Accreditation Commission in Jordan. In this regard, I congratulate AAU students, staff, the Board of Trustees and the Board of Directors for this achievement and ask Allah to bless and guide us all on the path of goodness under the Victorious Hashemite Leadership, God's willing, and peace be upon you.

Prof. Sadeq Abdullah Hamed
The University President

Events in the AAU vary according to venues, dates, participants as well as organizers and attendees. These events aim to refine students skills; to build their personalities; to enhance their participation in co-curricular activities; to promote the spirit of cooperation and affection and to exchange experiences among them.

Hence, this issue covers variety of scientific, cultural, recreational and social activities and achievements which are performed in the AAU. These activities reflect the unlimited devotion of its Academic and Administrative staffs to meet students desires and to enrich their time while being in the University.

The accelerated events and achievements of this educational institution compel us to highlight them in the fold of this magazine.

May Allah grant us success in this endeavor

The Association of Higher Education Institutions Accreditation and Quality Assurance Grants the AAU the Quality Assurance Certificate

■ The Association of Higher Education Institutions Accreditation and Quality Assurance granted the AAU the Quality Assurance Certificate at the level of the University.

A special Ceremony for handing the AAU the Certificate of Quality Assurance was held on 29 / 11 / 2017 under the patronage of Prof. Bashir Al-Zoubi, the Chairman of the Association Council in the headquarter of the Association in Al-Jubaiha, Amman.

The celebration was attended by many members of the Association Council, the AAU President, Prof. Sadeq Hamed, Mr. lyad Shaaban, the AAU Assistant to the President for Administrative and Quality Assurance Affairs and Mrs Enas Al-Hourani, the Director of the Department of Public and International Relations in addition to the AAU Media Advisor, Mr. Ahmad Al-Anbousi.

During this event, Prof. Al-Zoubi, the Chairman of the Accreditation Council highlighted the importance of this great achievement, since the AAU is considered a leading national institution in the Private Jordanian Higher Education. He also added that such an achievement would contribute in gaining the International Quality Assurance Certificate which in turn helps universities in the Jordanian and International Classifications of Universities. It also helps in creating competitions among Jordanian universities and rectifying any defects in the university environment and its study plans. Prof. Al-Zoubi also confirmed that this achievement is positively reflected in the Higher Education Sector in our beloved homeland under the leadership of His Majesty King Abdullah II.

In his turn, the AAU President, Prof. Sadeq Hamed thanked the Chairman and the members of the Council for their exerted efforts in raising the Higher Education level and in introducing the Quality Assurance System as a basic component in the Jordanian Education Sector which positively reflects the improvement of the standard of educational outcomes. Prof. Sadeq also noted that the AAU's achievement is based on advanced planning and the need for an integrated administrative system to ensure quality at the level of the University. He stressed that quality is considered the culture and values of the institution which focus on team spirit, belonging and communication skills.

Mr. lyad Shabaan, the AAU Assistant to the President for Administrative and Quality Assurance Affairs, confirmed that quality is the AAU's strategic choice that aims to improve the academic and administrative process and to achieve distinguished standards locally, regionally and internationally. ■■

The AAU Delegation Visits the Sultanate of Oman

“ In order to promote Jordan as a destination for knowledge seekers and to achieve the AAU’s plan in attracting students, the Chairman of the AAU Board of Directors, Dr. Maher Al-Horani in cooperation with Mrs Daniah Al-Omary established an office for university services in the Sultanate of Oman (Muscat). This office is the first of its kind in the Sultanate.

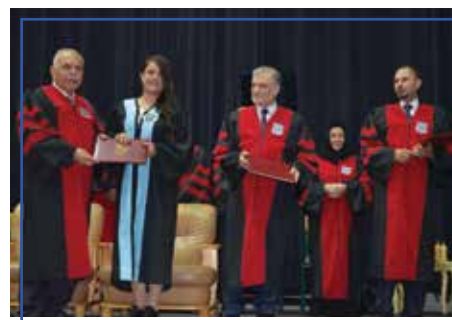

The office receives students and their parents and follows up all necessary documents and certificates from ministries and embassies in Jordan and the Sultanate. In light of this, the AAU participated in the cultural exhibition (Oman Edu Track) which was held in the Sultanate. A number of British, American and Malaysian universities also participated in the exhibition. Dr. Ghaleb Erikat, the Acting Dean of the Faculty of Pharmacy and Medical Sciences and the Head of Admission and Registration Department met with a number of Omani figures who visited the University pavilion and he explained the services of the University which the Omani Students are provided with. During the visit, Prof. Sadeq Hamed presided over a seminar at the Omani Ministry of Higher Education under the patronage of Waly Bousher Muhanna Al-Ma’oli. In this seminar, Prof. Hamed talked about the level of education in Jordan and gave an introductory presentation regarding the AAU faculties, specializations offered at the Bachelor and Masters’ Degree levels and the services the AAU provides to students. During his speech, the AAU President talked about the intensive program which is intended to be organized to serve the Omani Masters’ students and those who reside in Jordan.

The University received the students and their families in Jordan at the expense of the University and hosted them in the hotels of the Jordan Investment Group who are the AAU owners ”

The AAU Faculty of Law Hosts the Mock Trials Competition in “the Humanitarian International Law and the International Criminal Law”

Under the patronage of Al-Ahliyya Amman University and in cooperation with the International Committee of Red Cross and the National Committee of the Humanitarian Law, the AAU Faculty of law hosted the Third Annual Competition of the mock trials in the Humanitarian International Law and the International Criminal Law. In this event which took place on Thursday, 16 / 11 / 2017, the following Jordanian public and private universities participated: Al-Ahliyya Amman University, Philadelphia University, Yarmouk University, Al-Albait University, Jadara University, Al-Isra' University, Ajloun National University, Al-Zarqa University, Irbid Private University, the Middle East University, University of Applied Sciences, Petra University and Jarash University.

The Vice President of the AAU, Prof. Suliman Al-Lawzy delivered a speech during the opening ceremony which was held in the Nizar Qabani Theater. Prof. Al-Lawzy stated that “this activity links the theoretical aspect with the practical one in the courses of the Faculty of Law. He emphasized that the world nowadays advocates the trial procedures whereby students become acquainted with the nature of the judicial work lest the legal science remains just academic information not close to the courts with its rituals and practices which students may not find in the books of law”.

He stressed the importance of holding periodic students meetings which enhance the spirit of cooperation and affection and exchanging experiences among students. It also contributes in shaping their legal characters and preparing them to be the future legal leaders in the Arab World.

He added that the AAU's eight faculties which reflect the AAU vision and mission encourage hosting such activities to provide a supportive academic environment of excellence and to prepare specialized and qualified human cadres in various fields of knowledge.

On his part, the retired Lieutenant General, Ma'moon Al-Khasawneh, delivered a speech on behalf of the National Committee of the Humanitarian International Law where he confirmed that university education in Jordan has been developed widely in public and private universities. He noted that Jordan provides the Arab region with distinctive scientific competences in all fields of specializations.

Meanwhile, Dr. Shaima Abu Farha who represents the International Committee of Red Cross posited that holding such activities aims to polish the students' legal skills and to promote awareness of content and legal implications in an interesting manner.

During the activities of this competition, the participating teams competed actively and transparently before specialized arbitration bodies. The four mock trial sessions took place in the Nizar Qabani Theater and the Judge Mousa Al-Saket Hall. At the end, the final session was held before the arbitration body and announced that Philadelphia University team won the competition cup. The arbitration body also considered the other teams as winners as the Philadelphia team because of their competence and excellence.

The Nizar Qabani Theater

☐ The Nizar Qabani Theater was established in April 1998. It was named after the great poet and diplomat Nizar Tawfiq Qabani who was born in Damascus in 1923. The theater was designed to embrace several artistic, cultural and social activities.

This theater is considered an essential center for the activities of the Deanship of Student Affairs in particular and the University in general. It is also intended to host the activities of the local community. The theater which can accommodate three hundred people has a podium for lecturers that can be converted to a theater for presenting shows.

In the summer of 2017, the theater was renovated; the sound and light systems were updated; the internet and live broadcast for activities were developed as well as all facilities. Moreover, a distinguished hall for receiving dignitaries and VIPs was annexed. ☐
